

Our products enable customers from the world's largest media companies to the smallest website owners to secure and efficiently distribute or broadcast their audio, video, and other digital content

Destiny Media has two main product lines

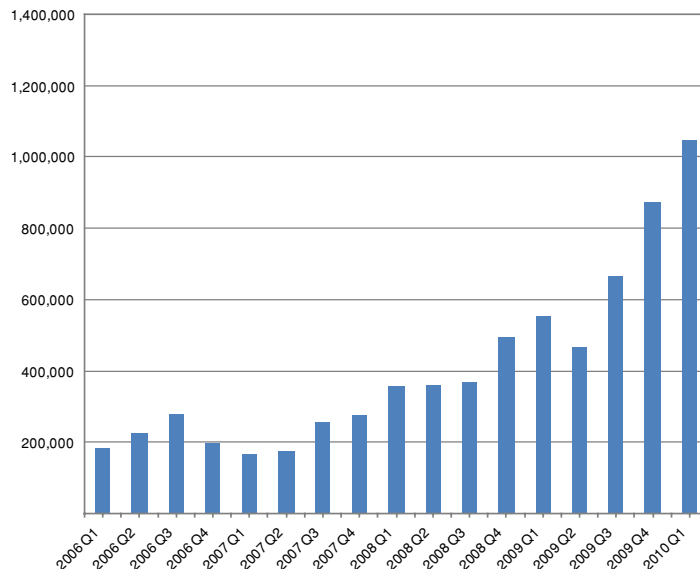

MPE® enables the secure download of content to a local computer. It is similar to buying a CD or DVD where the recipient "possesses" the content. Play MPE® is the largest product in this line and is revolutionizing the way the record industry distributes its promotional music. MPE® is the dominant method used in the U.S. and Europe by all major labels.

Clipstream® is a mature web technology that allows content owners to host sensitive content on websites, surveys or other web capable devices with maximum resistance against pirates or unauthorized viewing. Clipstream® is a leading technology used by the online market research industry.
